The Britishers.

Why Does Parliament Meet so Soon?
—Increase of the Army.

LONDON, December 19.—The morning papers officially announce that Parliament will meet January 17.

It is stated that the Cabinet has decided to ask Parliament to vote a grant of money for such increase of the British army as the present state of Europe demands.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The Post, in its leading editorial, foreshadows a grant for military preparations, and, after reviewing rumors which have been current of late, concerning a separate arrangement between Russia and Turkey, says: "To make England's words heard, to make mediation respected or intervention effective, it is necessary to appeal to the representatives of the nation for requisite support. We cannot entertain the slightest doubt that Parliament will not only readily accord whatever money is necessary to put the national strength in condition for active efficiency, but will heartily endorse the policy in accordance with the true interests of permanent peace and the noblest traditions of the country. It is certain the Cabinet is united in its resolve, and with the opening of the new year we shall witness the inception of a clear and national policy.

The Standard, in its leader, explains: The victory of the Russians is not the cause of the summoning of Parliament; but the license which is given to Russia by Germany and Austria to use the victory in her own way. That is what constitutes the danger to British interests. England can never consent to the quarrel being arranged on these terms. She may even have cause to demur to a peace directly between the belligerents. She claims a voice in the settlement; and it is that she may be prepared to insist upon that voice, that the Government is adopting those measures which Parliament will be invited to sanction.

A man near Pittsburg, Pa., recently advertised for a bookkeeper, and within twenty-four hours he had one hundred and thirteen applicants for the position. Subsequently he sought a man for his farm by the same means, and had eight responses, which is to say, one hundred and thirteen men want to starve goutely to every eight content with an independent though plain living; and about the same thing might happen in California under like circumstances. The figures ought to be reversed.

Bird-pairing Instincts.

A writer in Hardwicke's Science Gossip, treating on the subject of pairing instinct in birds, divides the feathered creation into three classes, viz: Those which pair for life; those which pair annually and those which never pair, but are polygamous. Swallows, rooks, martins, starlings, magpies and several of the Falconidae and Paridae are mentioned as examples of the first class. The writer considers that all birds which return every season to their old nests or nesting-sites to rear their broods, belong to the class that pair for life. The greatest number of birds pair annually, and these desert their nests for aye as soon as their young are fledged. In the opinion of the writer, when their duties to their offspring are fulfilled, the tie that bound the parent birds is annulled, and they are henceforth as strangers to each other. The members of the third class, according to the writers division, are included almost altogether in the tribe of the Gallinae. "In this arrangement," remarks the writer, "we can observe one of the wisest provisions of Nature—the flesh of all these birds form a wholesome and substantial article of food for man, from the savage in his boundless wilds to the man of civilization. But what can keep the demand supplied? Clear-thinking readers will at once assert that to keep up this supply the birds must multiply quickly; the only way is by polygamy. It is well known how prolific birds are which, endowed with this particular instinct, can propagate their species equal to the demand made upon them. There are exceptions to the general rule among all three of the classes named. The tame duck is polygamous, but the mallard, its wild representative, pairs for nomenclature, and the rook, which usually pairs for life, has been observed in the indulgence of polygamous propensities.

A short time since Henry Ward Beecher preached a sermon that will create a sensation among the orthodox people. "The doctrine," he said, "that God has been for thousands of years peopling this earth with human beings, during the period of three-fourths of which it was not illuminated by an altar or church, and in places where a vast population of these people are yet without that light, is to transform the Almighty to a monster more hideous than Satan himself. I swear by all that is sacred, that I will never worship Satan, though he should appear dressed in royal robes and seated on the throne of Jehovah. Men may say, 'You will not go to heaven!' A heaven presided over by such a demon as that who has been peopling this world with millions of human beings, and then sweeping them off into hell, not like dead flies, but without taking the trouble even to kill them, and gloating and laughing over their eternal misery, is not such a heaven as I want to go to. The doctrine is too horrible. I cannot believe it and I won't.

An English court has decided that parents are not responsible for damage done by their children. This is hardly correct, because the child must in after life become, in a measure, responsible for the damaging traits of its parents.

Railroad Commissioners.

The California Legislature of '75, anxious to shirk any responsibility in the matter of fares and freights, appointed a Commission which was allowed to investigate. The Commissioners were in the nature of Regulator-Generals or Chiefs of Suggestion. They were to find out what was already known and report to the Senate with learned comments. This plan was not calculated to bear much fruit, but it was the best which the California Legislature could do. Had that body ever tried to make laws upon this subject the C. P. R. R. would have discharged every mother's son of them, and reprimanded them beside. These Commissioners were, of course, men who needed a steady job with little to do and plenty of pay, and they have just reported according to instructions. This report strongly favors the management of the Central Pacific and discourages all others. The Central Pacific is a paying investment, according to this wise Commission, and all other railroads within the State are losing money.

In conversation lately with an intelligent member of the present Legislature, he said: "A Commission can do nothing, because it is limited to the gathering of statistics. An expert on the subject of freights can convince the best Commissioner in the country. Every expert of any note belongs to the railroad company, and hence Commissioners must go to the company for their report." We believe this to be the true state of the case. This Commission was never intended to do anything, and has performed its work well. As we understand it, the theory of freights does not deserve so much attention as the fact of extortion, and this last can be measured closely enough by the popular protest, for legislative purposes. We do not blame the railroad company so much, nor yet the Commission, but we do feel like gently chiding the knaves who wore the collar and obeyed their masters last year.

Another great man has gone suddenly, his light snuffed out, and so suddenly that it excited curiosity. They put him through the post mortem racket and found some buttons, a coil of wire and some pins in his stomach. Inflammation of the bowels was the verdict. His name was Pongo, and his fame was a reward of the fact that he was a gorilla. He had never occupied any "offices of trust or confidence."

One, Bishop Jolivet, at Transvaal, in South Africa, lately denounced the order of Good Templars. The Templars were indignant and called for the reasons. The Bishop proved that they thought wine was made by the devil, and he held that this was a heretical doctrine, and as he warmed to his work the blossoms upon his nasal organ presented a ruddy and attractive sight.

Dispatches from Texas say plainly that there is need of an army in that region. A portion of the State militia, having surrendered, were massacred by the Mexican mob. Troops ordered to the frontier are moving as speedily as possible, but further bloodshed may ensue before their arrival.

THE SILVER QUESTION.—Washington, Dec. 18.—Treasury officials say regarding the Eastward movement of trade dollars and Mexican dollars that the supply of trade dollars is quite large. Last Summer the Philadelphia Mint was asked to coin a few millions for exportation to Singapore, and $2,000,000 were actually coined. The San Francisco Mint also coined $2,000,000, and the stock in private hands is said to be equal to this. Mint officials say the Bank of Nevada has sent out circular offering to sell trade dollars at reduced rates. They are quoted at San Francisco at 94½ cents. The remaining 2½ cents is distributed thus: The broker who sells them at 96 cents makes 1½ cents, the express companies 1 cent for transportation from San Francisco, the bank handling them gets half a cent, and the final purchaser 2½ cents. Mexican dollars are smuggled over the border in large quantities and sent to New York brokers, who forward them West under contract for 97½ cents. Greenbacks are at a premium and on account of being more readily shipped to San Francisco, are readily exchangeable either for Mexican or trade dollars at a profit.

The Market.

[Gold Hill News, Dec. 19th.]

Yesterday and to-day the stock market has run into a streak of lively looking "rise" indications, although prophecy may come in a little again at the close. Nothing big however, need be looked for just yet. Wait a little longer. One reason for unreliability of the market consists in fact that the great majority of stock dealers, the great school of small fry, lack confidence. They have seen stocks go immensely lower than they are now, and dislike to risk the possibilities of some similarly disastrous decline, consequently they prefer making short turns, the which, of course, is fish for the brokers. All are anxiously, however, looking out for "points." Alta is in the ascendant by reason of the new machinery being started and the commencement of ore production from the mine for milling. Moreover the Alta is principally owned and managed by extremely sensible, wide-awake men. They have hastened to remedy any real or imaginary defects in their title and now feel safe on that score. As to that little $250,000 purchase of ground from the Justice Co. which has looked so irregular, it is said that it will look right enough as soon as explained.

The Justice Investigating Committee have completed the first installment of their labors at the mine, and have gone back to San Francisco to investigate Schultz some more, and put this and that together. They feel sure that they have unearthed a vast amount of high grade rascality, and find that the company will still be over $350,000 in debt after the present delinquent assessment is fully paid in. Schultz says the new management have not acted in good faith with him; that they have brought charges which they cannot sustain, and anyhow which will not look so dreadful bad when properly and fully explained. The report of the committee will be made public in due time, and then the full and complete explanation of Mr. Schultz will be in order. Meanwhile, Superintendent Curtis is going ahead with the working of the mine, as he thinks ought to be done, and he does know as much as anybody about such matters. Justice will come out of her own bottom hereafter, although there may be another assessment required to clean up the indebtedness. Ophir has not crossed as yet at the 1900 level, but the indications are in favor of finding a goodly width of valuable ore vein when this is done. There is no diminution in the grand ore and bullion yield of the big bonanza, or the chances for future dividends. Quite a number of assessments are just being levied among the mines along the line, but this is by no means a discouraging feature. Bonanzas are only found by the expenditure of money. The general outlook is encouraging.

Germany.

LONDON, Dec. 18th.—With reference to internal questions which are now dividing Prince Bismarck from Emperor William and some of the Ministers, a Berlin dispatch has the following: Prince Bismarck seems to have overcome the obstacles which have hitherto hindered the realization of his plan for remodeling the Cabinet. A rumor is gaining credit that Herr Camphausen, Vice-President of the Council of Ministers and Minister of Finance, and Achenbach, Minister of Commerce and of Public Works, will resign, and that the latter will be replaced by Dr. Friedenthal, Minister of Agriculture; that Herr Benningson, President of the Chamber of Deputies of Prussia, will become Home Minister, and that other portfolios will be distributed when Prince Bismarck returns to Berlin. Such a solution of the crisis would be a success for the National Liberal party, who, up to the middle of last week, despaired of so hopeful an issue. Apparently, the Conservatives declined, at the last moment, to enter the Cabinet previous to the removal of Dr. Falke, Minister of Public Instruction and Ecclesiastical Affairs, and unless they had guarantees that all ecclesiastical laws issued since the beginning of the ecclesiastical war, should be partly abolished and partly remodelled. Prince Bismarck is now working to remove some courtiers of high degree whom he charges with conspiracy against him. According to the latest intelligence he has, up to this time, not been successful, but there are indications that these courtiers must this time yield to the Chancellor.

The Musicale.

We published yesterday the programme for the fifth rehearsal of the department of music, and can hardly find words to express our admiration at the manner in which it was rendered. If anyone will stop for a moment and try to measure the distance between the average culture of Nevada, and an appreciation of Liszt, Mozart, and Beethoven they will know what we mean, and will besides get an idea of the faithful work necessary to bridge over the difference, and admire the zeal and patience which must direct all such work. We shall not attempt any praise of the teachers because the rehearsal last night was in itself better reward than we can give.

The Beethoven adagio by Misses Quaiiffe and Estill was like a personal favor bestowed upon the audience, and the vocal solo by the last named lady was a gem both in melody and rendering. Miss Leslie Smith played Liszt's Rhapsodie Hongrois in a very satisfactory manner, and gave evidence of much natural ability. The effort of the evening however, was Liszt's arrangement of Wagner's celebrated Tannhauser March, by Miss Louise Marzen. The piece is one of immense difficulty, and as musical people will see, a combination of Liszt and Wagner—both peculiar and erratic—is exceedingly trying upon an amateur. Wagner invented new thoughts, and Liszt adds new ways of expressing them. Yet Miss Marzen surprised us by her ready translation, of what few amateurs attempt, and it gives us pleasure to say that we expected a surprise in the other direction. This young lady has worked zealously, and acquitted herself nobly last night, her loyalty to the ideal art will bring her a rich reward.

Among the rest, who all showed marked improvement, we note Miss Gertrude Hatch and commend her perseverance and success. The duet by Misses Rogers and Stowe is also entitled to mention, and the musicale was a success of which both parents and teachers may well be proud.

At its conclusion a hurried hand-shaking, a shower of kisses and a few tears were indulged, after which the school dispersed, no doubt with thoughts of the Merry Christmas, Happy New Year and "Home, Sweet Home."

A New Token of Esteem.

Last evening while the assembled guests were enjoying the musical feast prepared for them at the Episcopal Seminary, they were astonished at hearing a loud explosion which seemed to come from one of the upper stories of the building. After due search, nothing was found, and the exercises proceeded. After about half an hour and when the first sound had been forgotten, another, and louder explosion brought everyone to their feet and shook the building. The male portion of the audience rushed out to see what the cause might be, and if possible apprehend the offenders. The general opinion was that some hoodlums were amusing themselves at the expense of the school. The ladies were of course very much frightened and the young misses ran into each other's arms, seeking protection from, they knew not what. Bishop Whitaker however allayed the excitement assuring them that no harm would reach them. The men however who had undertaken to learn the cause discovered some bright lights burning in a field adjoining the Seminary, and one of their number pursued the fleeing artillerists and succeeded in getting close enough to identify three of the number. This morning it turns out that the young gentlemen were Reno youths and intended the display merely as a token of their esteem for the young ladies, and a mark of profound respect for the institution. Bishop Whitaker, at the close of the musicale, announced that he would give $100 to any one who would give information of the offending parties, but this morning the young men deeply grieved at learning that they had been misinterpreted, hastened to apologize, and assured everybody that their artillery practice had merely been intended as a salute to the school, and a mark of profound respect. We merely add that when it is intended to compliment a public institution there is no pressing necessity for a giant powder explosion in the back yard.

That Sensation.

"The Flight through a Shower of Rifle Balls"—Desperate Fishermen.

We copied yesterday an article from the Enterprise which we said we did not understand, and which we explain by request to-day:

Marshal Ash in person did not visit Pyramid Lake, but the work was performed by his Carson Deputy who is described by E. F. Reed, our informant, as a perfect gentleman. This Deputy visited the fish camps, together with his aids, on horseback. The Enterprise had him in a rockaway. There is no such vehicle in Wadsworth, and hence the rockaway is disposed of. The Deputy Marshall enquired for the camps, found them, performed his errand and started to return. In conversation with Mr. Reed, that gentleman was informed that the Marshal's simple duty consisted in warning every fisherman off the reservation. Reed replied that he considered himself notified duly, and that, while claiming that he was not on the reservation, whenever he was proven wrong one man was entirely sufficient force to remove him and his employees from the place. At the other camps the Deputy met with the same reception. After the conversation Reed invited the officer to lunch, setting out several pies, cheese, stimulants, &c., which were well patronized by the Government. An attaché of the reservation, Louis Bevier, well known as a thorough gentleman and who accompanied the Marshal, thought it his duty to extend Mr. Reed a Christmas invitation as a return for his kindness. The ambassadors took their way to the reservation and arrived safely. The only fire which the Marshal was subjected to was the volley of mince pie above mentioned, and it is presumed that the traditional nightmare seized him and impressed upon his mind the heroic incidents which furnished the Enterprise with a sensation.

TEMPERANCE LAST EVENING.—Rev. G. S. Allen delivered his closing lecture last evening to a good house. We were not present but learn that it was the best of the series. We like Mr. Allen's style; he evidently knows something of human nature, and we believe tries to use that knowledge for the public good. One thing is evident, that he captures his audience at each instance whether they be temperance or non-temperance, and is secure of a good attendance wherever he may lecture. He will return to Reno after spending a few days in Virginia.

ROSES.—This is not exactly the time to talk about them, but R. P. Chapin has just received a bill of roses ordered by him for the Arlington Nurseries. The bill in question names fifty-four kinds, which together with his present stock will place eighty varieties of roses at his command next year. The different varieties will be propagated next Spring, and in time for next season's sales. The cuttings set out three weeks since in the propagating house have already formed root and been transplanted.

CHRISTMAS TIDINGS.—The stranger upon visiting our town is invariably directed to Grey & Isaacs, as the most likely place where the ladies can be seen making their purchases of dry goods. The Winter stock is now on sale, and it is scarcely necessary to recommend the ladies to inspect it, and yet their stock of holiday goods is going off so fast that we feel it right to urge a little haste. Go early and you will find just what you want.

AGAIN CONTRADICTED.—We hear to-day still another report in regard to the adventure at Pyramid Lake. Our explanation to-day comes direct from Mr. Reed and is given upon his authority. Come forward one at a time and we will get this thing right before 1878.

The Gazette says one of its editors is herding turkeys at Bidwell. What a pity the other is not assisting—Lieutenant Governor Downing.

We are busy just now, herding the intellectual gosling who runs the Journal.

RIVERSIDE MEETING.—There will be a meeting of the Riverside Club this evening at D. A. Bender & Co.'s bank. All members are requested to be present.

OVERHEARD.—Now Maria, let's go home."

"Yes, John; in a moment. I want to run into Grey & Isaacs just a minute."

Throat Cutting.

Farrell vs. Brotherton—An Unfaithful Wife.

Last evening was the occasion of an almost fatal affray between one J. S. Farrell and Geo. Brotherton, in which the latter had his throat cut by a razor manipulated by Farrell. Farrell had a wife and child here and failing to get work went up to Boca, where he obtained employment from the ice company. Yesterday afternoon the company ceased work, on some account, and finding that they would not resume for two days, Farrell walked down to see his family. Upon visiting his house where he had left his family, Farrell was surprised to find it empty, all of the furniture having been removed but one mattress. Upon inquiry, Farrell learned that his wife was living in the western addition, and thither he went to find her at the house of Mrs. Drannan. According to the story of Farrell, he found his wife and the man, Brotherton, in rather intimate relations, and he sought to end it by ending Brotherton. According to Brotherton's story, Farrell knocked at the door and when he opened it, he was assaulted by Farrell with the result mentioned. At any rate the woman gave rather an incoherent story to Officer Avery, who took the wounded man down to the surgeon. Brotherton had a ghastly gash in his throat a foot in length, and Farrell was found at his old home with his little child which he had taken with him after the affray. The two were lying upon the only mattress and officer Avery took them to a room at the Arcade. This morning Farrell gave bonds of $500 for his appearance, his surety being Wm. Duck. One other signer is yet needed.

Jottings.

Tuley Frank, or Frank Dickinson, has gone below.

Miss Eva Quaiiffe took the overland train last evening for San Francisco.

F. E. Horn the well known cattle dealer took a horn to-day which made him feel very happy. The Horn was a little wee girl baby, weight 9 pounds.

We are glad to see Len Savage about again on our streets, and sorry to note the poor condition of his health.

Sol. Geller has established a jewelry store in Hammond & Wilson's office. The stock is "ready for the knife."

Louis Bevier, of the reservation is in town. How was that shooting?

Jack Page, Wm. McPherson, and a host of Wadsworthians are in town today.

Read Ike Chamberlain's ad. and return that shooter. A suitable reward will be paid.

The Fireman's Ball ad. appears today. Every good citizen should be interested in the success of Washoe No. 2.

The Journal's Local Page.

Pete Comstock and folks went below last night.

Johnnie Boyd left for the new mining camp of Bodie yesterday.

Many private families have arranged to have Christmas trees. It's nice to have the family gathered together on such an occasion.

Its "nice" to have a local page!

From Bodie.

A stabbing affray took place Sunday night about 10 o'clock, which very nearly ended fatally. A number of men were congregated in Sague's saloon singing and embracing each other as none but drunken men will do, when a quarrel arose resulting in a miner named John Harriett being stabbed with a penknife behind the ear, just escaping the main artery. He was attended to by Dr. Berry, a new doctor here from Coulterville, Cal., who stitched up the wound and pronounced it nothing serious.

Several drunks took possession of Frank Masters' saloon (the Bodie Brewery) Sunday night, and upon "Pere Hyacinthe" attempting to eject them, several six-shooters were drawn; and there the matter ended, no damage being done.

Dolly Cooper, a "nymph of the pave," has just called on Dr. Berry to attend "Texas Tom," (Keethe) who was stabbed in the arm in several places during the Harriett row of Sunday night, but his friends got him away and nothing was known of it until obliged to call in medical aid.

This is going to be a rough camp, and a few of the old stiffs inform me on the quiet that during this Winter I shall have the pleasure of seeing about a dozen swinging from the two flag-staffs erected on Main street.

The weather is delightful. Severe frosts occur at night but are early dispelled when the sun shines forth.—

WATCHES!! JEWELRY!!

ROMAINE GOLD. S. E. TAYLOR, WORKS IN PARIS.

It was first discovered in 1870, by the celebrated French chemist, Mons. D. De Dainge, who manufactured it into jewelry, and for five years sold it to the leading jewellers of Paris for Gold. In 1875, when his secret became known, ten of the manufacturing jewellers established a stock company, with a capital of $10,000,000 for the purpose of manufacturing Romaine Gold Jewelry and Watches. With this immense capital and the aid of improved machinery, they are enabled to produce all the latest patterns of Jewelry at less than one-tenth the cost of solid gold, and of a quality and color which makes it impossible even for experts to detect it from the genuine.

We have secured the exclusive agency of the United States and Canada, for the sale of all goods manufactured from this metal, and in order to introduce them in the most speedy manner, have put up assorted sample lots as given below, which we will sell at one-tenth the retail value until January 1st, 1878. Read the list.
